

NEW HAVEN

With a population of 134,000, New Haven is the second largest city in the state of Connecticut. It's the perfect place to stop on the way to New York City. The small city attracts many tourists who come to visit the prestigious Yale University. Founded in 1701, Yale is the oldest university in the United States. You must also try the renowned New Haven pizza, which is widely considered to be among the best in the country, if not the world!

WHERE TO EAT

LOUIS' LUNCH ($)

Louis' Lunch is known as the "Birthplace of the Hamburger Sandwich"! Family owned and operated since 1895, the restaurant is now run by the 4th generation. Louis' Lunch is committed to serving the best hamburger in the world, served simply on white toast with cheese, onion and tomato, to bring out the full flavor of the fresh meat blend. The original cast iron grills are still used.

FRANK PEPE PIZZERIA NAPOLETANA ($$-$$$)

This iconic eatery was founded in 1925 by Frank Pepe, an immigrant from Italy's Amalfi coast, and is still family owned and operated. They claim that it is the coal fire that gives their "tomato pies" their famous crisp, charred, chewy crust. The Pizza de Pepe and White Clam Pizza are derived from Frank's original recipes. As the place is very popular, you may have to wait to be served, but you'll soon see why their pizza is world famous!
