NEARBY

As you head towards Burlington, be sure to take beautiful Route 302 through Crawford Notch, which offers spectacular scenery.

SMUGGLER'S NOTCH STATE PARK **

Near the charming village of Stowe is the famous Smugglers' Notch **, a narrow pass through the Green Mountains. Smugglers' Notch derives its name from illegal trade between Vermont and Montreal under President Thomas Jefferson, who passed an embargo act forbidding American trade with Great Britain and Canada. Many local people continued herding cattle and carrying other goods through the Notch. Today Smugglers' Notch is a busy state park and a popular destination for visitors. It offers good opportunities for hiking at all levels, including the challenging Hellbrook Trail and the popular Sterling Pond Trail. You can also explore the caves in the park. Go to Barnes Camp Visitor Center for more information. Open every day from mid-May to mid-October. 6443, MOUNTAIN ROAD, STOWE 802-253-4014 WWW.VTSTATEPARKS.COM/ SMUGGLERS.HTML

MONT MANSFIELD **

Mount Mansfield ** in Stowe * is the highest mountain in Vermont and the most visited in the region. Its summit ("The Chin") is located at 1.339 meters above sea level. When viewed from the east or west, this mountain has the appearance of a (quite elongated) human profile, with distinct forehead, nose, lips, chin, and Adam's apple. The summit offers postcardworthy landscapes and an awe-inspiring 360-degree panoramic view.

To get to the top, you can take the spectacular Mount Mansfield Auto Toll Road ***, a steep and winding 7-km-long unpaved road. It will take you about 20 minutes to reach the "Chin". Note that there is a toll to use the road, and RVs are not permitted.

You can also ride to the top in the Gondola SkyRide ** (at Stowe Mountain Resort, 7416 Mountain Road, Stowe). Open every day from late June until mid-October.

And if you're looking for a physical challenge, several trails also lead to the summit. including the famous Sunset Ridge Trail, which many believe is the most beautiful the mountain has to offer. MOUNTAIN ROAD, STOWE

GREEN MOUNTAINS NATIONAL FOREST

Between Burlington and New Heaven lies the Green Mountains National Forest. The Green Mountains are part of the Appalachian mountain chain, like all mountains in eastern North America. They are also the origin of the name of the State of Vermont (French explorer Samuel de Champlain named them verd mont on his map, meaning green mountain). The national forest covers 160.000 hectares, is characterized by rugged mountains and wild forest, and offers few amenities. You will have the impression you are venturing into unexplored territory! Immerse yourself in this pristine natural environment, breathing deeply of the scent of spruce, pine and larch. There are many hiking trails, including part of the Long Trail or the Appalachian Trail, which wind through the heart of the forest. An experience unlike any other! The Green Mountains National Forest is divided into 2 regions: The Rochester-Middlebury District to the north and The Manchester Ranger District to the south.
